All about the Course

This 5 week course is for parents and carers who are looking for help and support with their child, aged 5-12yrs, currently experiencing and struggling with anxiety.

The sessions are being delivered by a CBT Therapist and a Psychological Wellbeing Practitioner, both of whom are specialist CYP mental health practitioners.

The programme is centred around a parent-led CBT approach which is an evidence-based group developed by Professor Cathy Creswell.

The approach believes that parent/carers are the agent of change for their child, they are with their child the vast majority of the time and therefore can have a greater impact on improving their child's anxiety.

Weekly sessions/Content

Session 1: Explanation of the programme and a chance to discuss your specific goals. This session also focuses on psychoeducation - exploring what anxiety is, how it is impacting your child and what maintains anxiety.

Session 2: Understanding children's anxious expectations, learning about curious questioning and looking at what your child needs to learn and develop.

Session 3: Developing a step-by-step approach to overcoming fears and worries, encouraging independence and having a go.

Session 4: Trouble-shooting and reviewing the step-by-step plans. Learning how to manage unplanned experiments and how to problem-solve.

Session 5: Review of the strategies, celebration and planning for the future.
